One hundred pages of lifesaving advice for people out of work. When over ten million people have needed help with their job-hunt—or with figuring out what to do with their life—there is one person they have turned to, more than any other. He is Richard N. Bolles, author of the #1 job-hunting book of all time, What Color Is Your Parachute? His name is well-known around the world. Just during the last twelve months, he has appeared in Time (“10 Ideas Changing the World Right Now,” March 2009), U.S. News & World Report (deemed “savior of the nation’s unemployed,” October 2008), NBC’s Today Show (broadcast in April 2009), and many other publications and shows. His book was the #1 best-seller on BusinessWeek’s paperback list as recently as last November. Never has his advice been more sought than during these brutal economic times. He has responded by writing a completely new book: The Job-Hunter’s Survival Guide, designed particularly for people who are hanging on the ropes, who haven’t time to do a lot of reading but need help desperately—and now. Early reviews have called this little Guide “brilliant” and “tremendously helpful.” In the Grasp (Book 1) I’m at the top of my game, and the most notoriously private player in the league, but my personal life leaves something to be desired. I thought I’d have more accomplished by now - like a wife and family - but for nine years I’ve held onto the memory of the girl who got away. Now she’s back and I’m more determined than ever to make her mine. For good this time. Across the Middle (Book 2) From the moment I laid eyes on Gina Rodrigo, she twisted my whole world on its axis. For months I refused to give into the feelings she evoked in me. I’d gone down that road before and it led nowhere good. But one kiss changed everything and I couldn’t fight my feelings anymore. Except she doesn’t know my secret and the deeper we get, the more the ghosts of my past threaten to ruin the first true happiness I’ve ever found. Down by Contact (Book 3) I’m a playboy, a modern-day Casanova. I don’t love women, I just make their orgasm dreams come true. She’s the coach’s daughter and the ultimate ice princess - always cold, composed, and spoiled. We have nothing in common, until she makes me a proposition I can’t turn down. I’m only human after all, and she’s hot. It shouldn’t mean anything. So why can’t I get her out of my damn head? Taking the Handoff (Book 4) I couldn’t say no when my best friend asked for a favor. His little sister needed a safe place until she got her feet under her in L.A, so of course I said yes. But I was not prepared for the vixen that showed up at my door looking NOTHING like the girl I remember. She’s off limits and I’m trying to behave. Really. I am. But the longer she stays here, the more tempted I am to take her and make her mine. I can look back and laugh about it now, but the idea for the eBook came from my frustration, stress, wasted time, and failures adapting to the changes in the online hiring process nearly every company uses today. My goal was to find what every was struggling with and provide a tool to help students, career professionals, or job hunters succeed at finding and winning their career job. Personally, I was involved with the "old school" job search and hiring process e.g. looking in the paper ads, hopefully, find an opportunity... then physically apply for the job in person. My entire professional career has evolved as companies made changes to the hiring process. I have cut my teeth navigating the constant changes made to job postings, applications, resume submission, screening, and interviews as the technology became more sophisticated. These changes put many great, qualified, and talented workers at a sever disadvantage. Why? If you haven't learned the skills required to apply for jobs this way, for whatever reason, you would struggle all around. With that, competition for good jobs is directly proportional to the increase a company makes in the jobs-posts marketing on social media. Making it even more challenging to stand out. It is incredibly difficult to learn the latest job-search techniques, build your online professional profile and resume if you don't have tools and guidance helping develop your skills. A lot of time and effort goes into the entire process from start to finish. So, any setbacks are strongly felt the longer it takes to complete. Speed is key when applying to good jobs like many other aspects in business. If you don't use eBook the job-search process is likely to get stressful. This can stem from frustration, anxiety, and disappointment wasted time on unnecessary failures and setbacks. To ensure you use every advantage for your benefit we clearly organized the most important information to guide you with clear instructions to find and get hired at your dream job. Using the proven methods provided in this eBook you can ensure a clear and structured professional online profile, a step by step guide covering each essential part of the process, you will set yourself apart from the competition at every step, winning interview skills, and peace of mind knowing you can take this information, revise it, and create custom resumes with edited profiles for each job posting you wish. I challenge each everyone to use this eBook, search for, and then apply to their dream job using your new skills and tips provided in this guide. Please, provide reviews. Feedback from your reviews are vital to maximizing the effectiveness of the content. Go get em! Packed with wit and beneficial stories spanning a multi-decade career - you won't be able to put this book down. Thoroughly revised for 2010, a handy job-hunter's guide explains how to identify one's personal goals and interests and reveals how to apply that information toward obtaining satisfying employment, with tips on interviews, salary-negotiation techniques, career searching online and more, in a guide that reflects the current market. Absentee owners. Single-minded concern for the bottom line. Friction between workers and management. Hostile takeovers at the hands of avaricious and unaccountable multinational interests. The story of America's industrial decline is all too familiar - and yet, somehow, still hard to fathom. Jamie Sayen spent years interviewing residents of Groveton, New Hampshire, about the century-long saga of their company town. The community's paper mill had been its economic engine since the early twentieth century. Purchased and revived by local owners in the postwar decades, the mill merged with Diamond International in 1968. It fell victim to Anglo-French financier James Goldsmith's hostile takeover in 1982, then suffered through a series of owners with no roots in the community until its eventual demise in 2007. Drawing on conversations with scores of former mill workers, Sayen reconstructs the mill's human history: the smells of pulp and wood, the injuries and deaths, the struggles of women for equal pay and fair treatment, and the devastating impact of global capitalism on a small New England town. This is a heartbreaking story of the decimation of industrial America. Not like other books that talk about specific employment areas: (cover letter, resume and interviews) this is a detailed step-by-step method of getting your "Dream Job" by utilizing proven techniques.
